

Emergencies

A word of instruction about emergencies that might make us late for the sacrifice.

There will always be emergencies, but there is no excuse for anything but emergencies. If we are trickling into the sacrifice, we are good for nothing. Remember that when we start making excuses for anything other than emergencies, we are falling away. When visitors come from other places (other tribes), they will notice our inconsistencies. We have to be dressed and ready. We know you have children, but He didn't make a mistake giving you those children. So He gives you grace to be prepared on time, even with your children.
