

May Your Princes be Many Letter from the tribe of Asher

To my beloved brothers and sisters in Judah,

Shalom. It has been on my heart to write you and appreciate you for a while now. It seemed fitting that I would send this message by Chên whom you sent to us a decade ago.

You are our big brother and we honor you as such. If it were not for you all and your heart to lay down your life and give your best then we would not have the life and joy we do. You gave us Chên, Nun and Judith, and through their poured out lives we are now one of the twelve tribes of Israel. I want to encourage you that as an older brother serves his younger brother, caring for him and providing for him until he is old enough to carry his own load, so you are to us. I look forward to the day that we are old enough and big enough to return that same care to you. We love you all soo much. You were chosen to lead all the tribes and we know it is not easy. You go ahead of us into all the unknown territory and establish order, for us to come into — we are so thankful for your willingness to suffer and be that way.

It is the most awesome and exciting thing that our Master is doing on the earth and we get to actualize it. You are a prince to us and we love to look up to you and learn from you, we pray for you and desire your blessing that you would increase and prosper.

When I first came and saw this life I received hope that there was actually a place on earth that children with a free will were standing with their parents and not rebelling and leaving them. I now know that that is the miracle of our Faith, we serve the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. They each had the same heart, Abraham managed to pass it on and do we if we will walk by His Spirit in us.

It is most on my heart to encourage you pertaining to his, we have yet to grow and experience what you go through. As I said earlier we appreciate you forging ahead and learning as you go. May you be blessed by our Father and your princes be many; Amaz ben Hakam is increasing and doing really well. May he be one of thousands of and ten thousands in your midst.

John wrote in 1 Jn 2:12-17, “I am writing to you fathers because you KNOW Him who has been from the beginning. I am writing to you, young men, because you have overcome the evil one. I have written to you, children, because you know the Father.”

May this be true of us — may your fathers do what they know already and may your young men overcome the evil one. I am so thankful that this is possible now, our Master has made a way if we will just respond to Him. I write you with great appreciation and deep respect on behalf of all your brothers and sisters in Asher. We love you and “laugh at the future” growing together with you into Yahshua’s Holy Nation.

Your little brother,
Asher
