

Being Filled Up with Unrighteousness

You have to have the keys to the kingdom. Our Father has given us the keys. Billy Graham has the keys to Satan's kingdom. You have to have the keys so you can invite someone home and unlock the door and let them into the kingdom. The indigenous people here have the keys. Our Father has given you the keys. Any time that you want to invite someone to the Kingdom, you can. You have the authority to let people in. You don't give the keys to someone you don't trust. Our Father has entrusted you with the keys. It's like with a bank account — you don't give the number of your account to someone you don't trust. If you don't have the keys, maybe that's why you don't invite someone into the kingdom. We've been talking about being filled up.

In Rom 1:24-31 we see the full accomplishment of Satan's goal (Rev 12:9; 20:3,7-9) to lead the world astray with all of his ingenious schemes. He will be locked up by our work for a thousand years, a millennium. Then he will be released to do again what he did in this age — lead the world astray. Satan leads the world astray by ingenious ways of manipulation, schemes (Rev 20:3). He leads the world astray from the Covenant of Conscience (Rom 1:29).

When a person is filled, he becomes something. It is a transition. In verse 28 they are filled. God must surrender them over to the winner of their soul (verse 26). For this cause God gave them up to vile affections. They did not honor his vice regent — the conscience. His vice regent was ignored and dishonored. God was not honored (verse 21). He gave them over to uncleanness or filthiness (Rev 22:11).

But as for those redeemed by the blood of the Lamb, the holy in Rev 22:11 and Jn 10:27-29, who have the greatest most marvelous privilege in the whole universe, they are in the hands of our Father and Yahshua. Satan was not able to snatch them out of his hand. Satan WAS able to snatch men out of His vice regent's hands — if they go outside the boundaries of it.

Those who are now tested in the nations are already sentenced to the first death. As soon as they are born it is clear that they are not going to keep the standard of perfection. Now they must obey their conscience to keep away from Satan's hands. For once a person falls into Satan's hands, he is over the waterfall and there is no return. Then God must give him up to his choices, having been led astray from the Everlasting Covenant of conscience (Gen 3:22) in which he would do things pleasing to his Creator and not do the things pleasing to the destroyer, accuser, corrupter, defiler — his chief enemy.

But most have dishonored God, their Creator, and became vain in their imaginations and their hearts were foolish and became hardened against their conscience. God gave them over to their imaginations. That's where Satan works; he rules there in the imagination. They suppressed the truth (verse 18), holding it down, consciously trying to forget it and their sins (verse 28). They did not see fit, did not like to retain God in their instinctive knowledge (Gen 3:22). So God had to give them over to the hands too strong to get out. Their conscience cannot deal anymore with their reprobate mind because of the things they continually gave themselves to. Now there is no way out. The hands are too strong for them. They have gone all the way over into sodomy, lesbianism, doing things they knew they shouldn't have done. So they were filled with all kinds of filthy deeds — what it says in verses 29-31.

In verse 31 (NAS) it says they are untrustworthy. Untrustworthy there is actually "covenant breakers" in the Greek (#802). They broke the Everlasting Covenant (Isa 24:5), the age-lasting covenant. Ever means an age. They are without understanding, covenant breakers, without natural affection. They love their dogs and cats more than their neighbors. They'd rather watch television all day. They don't have a normal natural love for neighbors. They are without what your conscience says about loving, helping your neighbor. That natural affection, natural love has been eroded away. They broke that covenant.

All men have natural law in common. Conscience is common knowledge with God — co-knowing or knowing together with God and with man. We know together with God the good to do and we know the bad. Some things you might fall headlong into, but if you think about it, deliberate on it, you know.

All men are in a covenant with God through His vice-regent, their conscience. If we receive His ambassador, we receive God. They are in a covenant with Him by the conscience. But they refused to abide by this knowledge of good and evil. Rom 1:31 – Paul uses the word to refer to those who, being in the covenant with God through their conscience (His vice-regent, representative, ambassador), refused to abide by this co-knowledge of good and evil. They became implacable (#786), the opposite of covenant keepers. They gave themselves over to Satan's hand. They love what Satan loves.

We must love what our Father loves and hate what he hates. Rom 2:16 — They will have no excuse on the day when God will judge the secrets of every man's heart. They are filled with unrighteousness. Satan leads them astray from the covenant of conscience, so then our Father has to give them over. Satan is there to test every person. He is doing his job.

They will have no excuse in that day. They'll say, "My parents ruined me; everything was eroded away; they put me in front of a TV all day, etc." But we will have to judge. We are being taught NOW to judge the world in the next age. We are to learn to judge simple things in the Body now. We have to hear both sides of the story, not just one side. And we cannot judge by what we hear and see, but by the spirit, the heart. We judge by some other standard than what the world judges by. The nations are natural. We are spiritual, super-natural.
