

Don't Make Fun of Sodomites

At the end of the gathering Mevaser gave thanks and prayed for our brothers at a market...

ha-êmeq — We need a lot of wisdom for that market. It is the best market we have, but it is in the sodomite area of San Diego. The brothers need a lot of wisdom to stay in there and know how to answer right and act right. Our Father has opened a door. There is a big waiting list to get into that market. The people just fell in love with our brothers and gave them a spot there. That is what we have been praying for. It opens doors to all the other markets. Maybe our Father has some lost sheep lost in that terrible thicket.

Just don't make fun of sodomites. A lot of times we might make fun of them in our conversations, mocking them, and things of that nature. That is probably the worst thing you can do. Some of them can be saved, as Paul said, "Such were some of us." (1 Cor 6:11)

Just don't cast them all out. Not all of them have gone over the waterfall. Some of them can be rescued. If we make fun of them, that is the worst thing we can do. It brings reproach upon us and our Father. We are to have compassion and mercy on them, feeling sorry for them, rather than having an air of superiority about us towards them. The whole world is going to be like Sodom and Gomorrah anyway, except for a remnant (Rom 9:29,27).
